TWO HUNTERS FINED UNDER NEW PA. LAW

Two Cashtown men have been arrested under a new law which prohibits operation of motor vehicles on cultivated land in hunting areas.

William C. Becker and William E. Golden, both of Cashtown, pleaded guilty Tuesday before Justice of the Peace John Whitman to a charge of driving on cultivated land on December 3 while hunting deer. The charge was brought by Game Protector Homer Thrush. The men were fined $25 each and directed to pay the costs. The justice game them until Monday to pay.

Game Protector Thrush said the charge on which the Cashtown men were arrested was based on a law passed by the 1963 legislature which makes it unlawful for any person "while hunting or trapping, or on lands open to hunting and trapping" to drive a motor vehicle on any cleared field. The law also prohibits the leaving of any garbage on the land, digging in the land, making it unlawful to park or leave standing any vehicle in such fashion as to block entrance or egress from any person's property or field.

Thrush said the law was passed in response to complaints by many farmers of hunters driving over their fields, causing ruts, breaking trees, digging up fields, leaving debris and blocking paths through the farms. Thrush said "only a small minority are guilty of such actions but it militates against the 99 per cent of the hunters who are not guilty of such actions. We hope the new law will help remind hunters to be careful of their use of other people's land and thus help to keep more land open for hunting."

SUPERVISORS DENY MT. JOY SCHOOL PLEA

The Mt. Joy Township Board of Supervisors Tuesday evening rejected a request of the Mt. Joy Twp. School Board to adjust the 1965 tax structure to permit the school board to place before the taxpayers in May a referendum which would permit the school board to merge July 1 with the Gettysburg Area School Board.

The school board applied for merger with the Gettysburg merged system Jan. 4, but was advised that the township's tax structure would have to be revised to coincide with the tax program which exists in the three districts of the present merged district. Mt. Joy Twp. has the highest tax rate in the county for school purposes. The school district was formed last July 1, as the result of a split in the township, to permit the county school board to submit a county-wide reorganization plan to the state under School Reorganization Law 591, which was passed in 1963. The merger will be enforced under state law in July, 1966.

SPLIT CHANGED TAXES

When the township was split last July, the tax rate for school purposes was dropped in the southern section, designated as Mt. Joy Twp. Independent School District, which is a member of the Littlestown Joint School System. The tax rate in the independent district is 45 mills on real estate, $5 per capita each under Sections 679 and 481 and 20 per cent occupation tax. The tax rates were increased in the northern section to 55 mills on real estate and 25 per cent occupation tax. The per capita assessments remain at $5 under each section.

The board of supervisors takes the full one per cent on real estate transfers, which last year amounted to $4,168.60. Property sales were up nearly $150,000 in the township in 1964, and the supervisors estimate that a normal year will produce about $1,800 in transfer taxes.

The board of supervisors is comprised of Clarence Myers, chairman; Paul Straley and Richard Reaver. Oliver Seguin is secretary-treasurer and is a non-member of the board.

WOULD CUT TAXES

Early merger of Mt. Joy Twp. with the Gettysburg Area would mean about $2,500 in additional state appropriations for the

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — South Viet Nam's generals returned Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh to power in a bloodless military coup today, and the Buddhist opposition to the civilian government began jubilant celebrations.

NEW U. S. PROBLEMS

She denies all of the charges. Bail was set at $500 for a hearing Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock on all three charges before Justice Snyder.

Delay Hearings In Murder Case

MERIDIAN, Miss. (AP) — Arraignment of 16 men on federal charges in the slaying of three civil rights workers was delayed today by arguments on defense motions.

The defense, which submitted 45 motions, contended the charges—conspiring to violate the civil rights by murdering them—were based on illegally obtained evidence, and the FBI violated the constitutional rights of the 16 in arrest procedures.

A dozen lawyers, representing the men from the Philadelphia-Meridian area, contended the defendants were unlawfully detained after their arrest December 4.

Wires in the electrical system beneath the dashboard of the Fred F. Feiser Funeral Home hearse shorted while it was enroute and caused a fire to blaze up.

The vehicle was halted and the firemen summoned. Damage was reported as slight. Another vehicle was secured to continue the procession to the cemetery for interment.

Mr. Millhimes, 60, a resident of New Oxford R. 2, and quarry superintendent for Teeler Stone Inc. here, died Saturday at the Hanover Hospital. He had been in ill health since last July.

PETITION OF CONVICT WILL GET HEARING

The Adams County court today set Thursday, March 11, at 10 a.m. as the time for a hearing on the petition for writ of habeas corpus submitted by Francis N. Light, formerly of Hanover, now serving a 10-to-20-year sentence in the State Correctional Institution at Rockview on a murder charge arising from the 1958 death of his wife.

The order of the court notes that answers filed by District Attorney Gerald R. Walmer and by A. C. Cavell, superintendent of the State Correctional Institution at Rockview, in response to Light's petition "raise factual questions" and as a result the hearing was ordered.

The same order directed that Cavell return Light to the custody of Adams County Sheriff Dawson Miller to permit Light to be here for the hearing March 11 and also directs that Attorney Oscar F. Spicer represent Light at the hearing.

In his petition to the court Light had claimed he did not have counsel at the preliminary hearing and that his constitutional rights were not explained to him prior to original questioning. He also alleged that the justice of the peace before whom the hearing was held did not have jurisdiction. The district attorney in his answer held that the justice had jurisdiction, and that Light had been appraised of his right to counsel, but had refused counsel.

Light was sentenced September 12, 1958, by the Adams County court to from 10 to 20 years, starting July 8, 1958, on the murder charge. Light's wife was found July 8, 1958, in the trunk of a car. She had apparently bled to death from stab wounds in the thigh. The wounds were inflicted near Natural Dam in Adams County.

MAN'S HANDS BURNED AS HE FIGHTS BLAZE

Harry Masemer Sr., suffered burns about the hand and face this morning at 2:30 when fire broke out in a first floor room of his home on the Quaker Church Rd., off the Hanover-Carlisle Rd., south of York Springs.

York Springs and East Berlin firemen were summoned to the scene. York Springs Fire Chief Lloyd Rupp Jr. estimated damage to the home at $3,000 and to the furnishings at $2,000. Rupp said Mr. Masemer was awakened by a fire which apparently started from defective wiring.

HOME BADLY DAMAGED

Masemer suffered the burns in attempting to extinguish the fire. He and Mrs. Masemer were brought to the Warner Hospital here by the York Springs firemen's ambulance. At the hospital it was found that Mrs. Masemer was uninjured. Masemer was treated for first, second and third degree burns of the right hand and first degree burns of the face.

The first floor of the log house was badly damaged by the fire, Chief Rupp said, but firemen were able to prevent the blaze from extending to the second floor of the home.

Abbotstown firemen were summoned to take a truck to East Berlin to stand by during the absence of East Berlin at the Masemer fire. Chief Rupp said there was sufficient water in the tank trucks of East Berlin and York Springs to extinguish the fire without seeking additional water. The firemen turned to their engine houses at 4:40.

Thousands File Past Bier Of Sir Winston Churchill In Cold, Hushed Grandeur Of Ancient Westminster Hall In London

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP) — Headed by Prime Minister Harold Wilson, a host of mourners began filing today past the flag-draped coffin of Sir Winston Churchill.

The body of Britain's 90-year-old man of the century lay in state amid the cold, hushed grandeur of ancient Westminster Hall, the first commoner to lie in state there in this century.

Wilson, his wife and members of Parliament were the first of many thousands who during the next three days will pass through the hall in tribute to one of England's greatest sons.

CROWD GROWS

Outside the hall a steadily growing throng waited to pay their tribute.

Churchill's body lay in a closed coffin on a high black-draped catafalque a few steps from the House of Commons which was his historic stage. The coffin will lie there until the state funeral in St. Paul's Cathedral Saturday.

Against the backdrop of great Gothic windows, the catafalque held the eye like a magnet. Towering over the closed coffin was a golden cross, sparkling in the light of six candles as many giant candlesticks, one at each corner of the catafalque, one at the head, the sixth at the foot.

OFFICERS ON GUARD

Their heads bowed, four motionless officers of Churchill's beloved Royal Navy and marines stood at the four corners of the catafalque.

Council engaged the following: Fire marshal, Kenneth McKee; police chief, Chester Ogden; solicitor, Gerald Walmer; borough engineer, William Seese; plumber, Howard Hutton and Eugene P. Heller. Dr. B. C. Jones was appointed to the health board for a five-year term.

Secretary McKee reported that the budget for 1965 should be ready for tentative adoption at the next meeting.

The proposed storm sewer was discussed at length with engineer William Seese but no action was taken. Seese was instructed by council to make application for a water work permit for a spring at the reservoir.

Bills in the amount of $101.41 were approved for payment. Six councilmen attended the meeting.

MAY INSTALL SWITCHBOARD

The Adams County commissioners Tuesday afternoon continued study of a proposed installation of a switchboard at the courthouse.

At present, each office has a separate line and as a result there is no way to switch a call from one office to another.

United Telephone officials, meeting with the commissioners, said the county currently pays $187 a month for the various telephones in county offices. The new system if it is adopted, would cost $199 a month plus $145 for installation.

The commissioners noted that several offices have asked for additional telephones and that, "if they were granted, the cost would be the same a switchboard system."

Installation of a switchboard would permit interoffice switching of calls, and would also permit the switchboard operator to send the call to the appropriate office in case the caller does not know which court office he is seeking.

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Prime Minister Thanom Kittikachorn today opened the last link in an asphalt road from Bangkok to the Laotian border, cutting through the heart of the strategic northeastern provinces.

The 225-mile, $14-million road links Korat, 150 miles northeast of Bangkok, with Nongkhai, a Thai border town on the Mekong River opposite Vientiane, the Laotian capital. Bangkok and Korat have been connected by a hardtop highway for years.

Built with U.S. aid, the new highway replaces a dirt road that washed out during every rainy season.

NAB 2ND MAN IN 2 MURDERS

NEW YORK (AP) — The slayings of Manhattan career girls Janice Wylie and Emily Hoffer in their fashionable East Side apartment shocked New Yorkers 17 months ago.

Police claimed they cracked the case last April with the arrest of a slightly built 22-year-old Brooklyn drifter.

Now they have accused a second man.

Richard (Ricky) Robles, also 22, a dope addict and convicted burglar, was charged with the double slaying Tuesday night.

Robles lived eight blocks from the girls' apartment. He had been freed from prison where he had been serving a sentence for 100 East Side robberies only a month before the Aug. 28, 1963, crime.

Police apparently now believe the first accused youth, George Whitmore Jr., had no part in the knife murders.

BARRY HAS EYE ON SENATE SEAT

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater is seriously considering a return to active politics by bidding for either a Senate or House seat.

Goldwater, the defeated GOP presidential nominee, has told friends he would like to go back to the Senate if the opportunity presents itself. He is less enthusiastic about seeking a House seat but has not rejected the idea.

The one thing he has been emphatic about, in private conversations, is that he doesn't want another presidential nomination even if unforeseen — circumstances should offer him a new opportunity in that field.

Since his defeat last November, Goldwater has been showered with advice ranging from appeals for him to start a third party to counsel that he move out of Arizona to establish a political base in a state that backs a substantially larger electoral college wallop.

Predicts U. S. To Be "Thrown Out"

NEW YORK (AP) — Unless the United States employs a new strategy, it will be thrown out of Viet Nam "in a matter of months, certainly within a year," former Vice President Richard M. Nixon says.

Nixon claims "we are losing the war in Viet Nam" and he proposes a quarantine to cut off Communist supply lines by using American air and sea power, but not nuclear weapons.

In a speech Tuesday the 1960 Republican presidential candidate described his proposal as "a very risky one," but said he doubts Red China would enter the conflict.

"The risk involved in winning the war is far less than the risk of losing it," he said.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. Air Force fighter pilot and his Vietnamese observer were killed today when their plane veered off a runway and turned over at Bien Hoa Airport 12 miles northeast of here.

The crash apparently was accidental and was not the result of enemy fire.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Court of Common Pleas has been asked to halt the sale and distribution of the paperback novel "Candy" in Pennsylvania.

Both actions filed by Attorney Gerald G. Walmer against Mrs. Stull allege she was at fault when her station wagon struck the rear of a car operated by Marie Stauffer.

BATTLE FOR OLMSTED MAY GO UP TO LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pennsylvania's Congressional Steering Committee says it will protest all the way to President Johnson over the planned closing of the Olmsted Air Force Materiel Area at Middletown, Pa.

The group announced after a closed-door session Tuesday that in its effort to retain the base, it also would seek a congressional investigation.

"The steering committee is going to do everything in its power to retain the Olmsted base," said Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the steering committee.

He said the committee took this action:

1. To protest the planned closing to the President.

2. To request a meeting with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Air Force Secretary Eugene Zuckert to outline what the committee feels is a strong case to retain Olmsted.

3. To ask McNamara to postpone the closing pending the meeting.

4. To seek an investigation of the closing by the House Armed Services Committee.

Morgan said that one argument the committee plans to use is the inadequacy of air protection for Canada and the Northeastern United States should the Olmsted Air Materiel Area be closed.

Morgan also said the Veterans Administration decision to close the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., regional headquarters will leave 400,000 veterans high and dry. Morgan said he will testify in behalf of the steering committee at a House Veterans Affairs Committee on the Veterans Administration reorganization.

The board accepted with regret the resignation of Dr. Ray K. Drum as a member of the board. William McCrorie, the chapter's executive secretary, reported 30 cases of service rendered to military families.

McCrorie also reported on a new combined service territory plan explained to 35 chapters in the Harrisburg area at a meeting he attended January 12 at the Holiday West Motel. The plan provides for a mutual exchange of services among chapters.

Miss Ruth McIlhenny, Junior Red Cross chairman, reported that most schools in the county have been enrolled in the Junior Red Cross campaign.

In response to a letter from the Lancaster chapter, the board agreed to accept a share of financial responsibility for the South Central Camp and Hospital Council.

Car Hits Girl; Leg Is Broken

A Delone Catholic High School Sophomore received left leg and foot injuries as she was waiting for a school bus in Hanover about 7:57 a.m. Tuesday.

The student, Christine A. Meckley, 15, Hanover, was admitted to the Hanover General Hospital with a fracture of the left upper leg and foot. A hospital spokesman said she is in satisfactory condition.

She was taken from the accident scene in the Hanover Fire Co. ambulance.

She was struck by a compact sedan driven by Jane S. Raver, 16-year-old South Western High School Junior, who lives in Hanover, according to Hanover police.

Miss Meckley was standing on the pavement as the Raver car went out of control while making a turn from Baltimore St. onto Hanover St., police said.

The auto jumped over a curb and rammed into Miss Meckley and pinned her momentarily against a brick porch pillar at the home of Mrs. Carrie Carver, 238 Baltimore St., Hanover, according to investigators.

merged board and would reduce the taxes of Mt. Joy Twp. residents to coincide with Gettysburg borough, Freedom and Highland Twp., where the rates are $5 per capita under Section 679; $7.50 under Section 481; 45 mills on real estate, 10% occupation and one per cent real estate transfer. Under the new merger law all members of a merged school district must pay the same tax rate.

Rex Maddox, president of the Mt. Joy Twp. School Board, said that he had been notified by telephone Tuesday evening by the board of supervisors' secretary, Oliver Seguin, that the board had rejected the school board's request for a tax compromise. The school board met with the supervisors Saturday afternoon and asked for the one per cent real estate transfer tax and $2.50 of the township's per capita tax to meet the structure of the merged district. The school board suggested that an increase of six mills on real estate throughout the township would compensate the supervisors for the adjustment. The township has approximately 880 taxpayers, 480 of whom are residents of the northern section and are included in the Mt. Joy Twp. School District of the Gettysburg Joint School System.

Maddox said the school board will meet Monday evening with the Gettysburg Area Board to report the decision of the board of supervisors. He added, however, that the school board will continue to seek a method of advanced merger with the Gettysburg board so that the taxpayers may have an opportunity to vote on the approval at the May 18 primaries.

He explained that Mt. Joy Twp. is attempting to merge a year in advance of the mandated merger in order to "take advantage of the additional appropriation from the state under early merger and to save the Mt. Joy Twp. taxpayers some money this year." He estimated that the merger would save Mt. Joy Twp. taxpayers approximately $12,000 to $15,000 in school taxes this year.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Arthur P. Hughes, 77, former bartender at two Gettysburg hotels, died suddenly Sunday evening at 6:55 o'clock in a chair in the Hotel Eberhart lobby. Dr. C. G. Crist, Adams county coroner, was called and after an examination said death was due to coronary embolism. Mr. Hughes, who formerly was employed as bartender at the hotel, had entered the lobby and engaged Frank B. Slonaker in conversation. A few minutes after he sat down and as he started to tell Mr. Slonaker a story he was stricken and died almost instantly. He tended bar at both the Hotel Gettysburg and the former Eagle Hotel. He was janitor at the borough engine house on E. Middle St. for a time and was a former janitor at the Times and News Publishing Co. building. He was the last survivor of his family.

Fire which broke out in studying of a first floor fireplace in the W. Broadway residence of Mr. and Mrs. Paul L. Roy Saturday evening about 6:30 o'clock caused damage estimated at between $100 and $200. The property is owned by W. Raymond Shank, York. Openings had to be made in walls and flooring to reach the fire. A short time later the fire broke out a second time and a second alarm was sounded. On January 25 of last year firemen were called to the Shank property to put out a fire at exactly the same point and which caused about the same amount of damage.

Samuel Schmucker Neely, Esq., 73, of 71 W. Lincoln Ave., former district attorney of Adams county and second oldest member of the Adams county bar, died Monday morning at 7:50 o'clock in the Warner hospital. Mr. Neely was taken suddenly ill last Thursday morning and was admitted to the hospital. His condition became critical Sunday. A complication of diseases caused death. He was solicitor to the board of county auditors and a former solicitor to the county commissioners. His law offices were located in the Murphy Building, Baltimore St. He is survived by his wife and two daughters, Miss Martha B. Neely, at home, and Mrs. Paul S. Gilbert, Bethpage, Long Island.

William Stock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Stock, E. Middle St., has resigned his position as instructor of political science at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, in order to accept a position in the Washington office of the Burroughs Adding Machine Company.

Clarence J. Waybright, Freedtown township director and retiring president of the county Board of School Directors was re-elected to the board for a six-year term and Chester B. Today's Talk

THE FUEL OF THOUGHT

Every thought we utter is fuel to the mind. We don't have to listen very long to the talk of anyone to learn the quality of fuel that he or she stores away or burns up inside that brain of his or hers!

We are careful about the fuel we burn in our furnaces, cars, or stoves, but I wonder how many realize they are forever burning fuel that enters the mind in the form of words, thoughts, and ideas? A highly educated man is often spoken of as having a "first-class" mind. He could have no other than this, for such a one would be furnishing first-class fuel as well in the way he gathered information, facts and noble expressions.

We know that the authors who write great and enduring books have burned fine fuel in their minds over the years. They use no cheapened product. The great thinkers have always been selective as to what they read, what they observe, and with whom they seek mental contact.

I entertained a small group of friends one summer, at my Nova Scotia island retreat, who left a part of their mental fuel behind for me to sample. They also inspired me by telling where I might gain much of this fuel that they used, through books and other sources. Genuine friends are forever inspiring us with their mental process of thought.

In our reading, our observations, and when silently alone, every moment we are pouring into our mind fuel in the form of thoughts, and it is this fuel that gives substance to the mind we own and which may set it apart so that it can be easily appraised. We know when we are in the presence of a mind that it will, and even beautifully fueled!

More idle gossip, mean sayings, unkind expressions about others, and the spreading of rumors that may be totally false, are all bad fuel for any mind. They clog the mind, like clinkers in a furnace, lowering the efficiency of that mind in the handling of substantial thoughts, and what Dr. Johnson spoke of as "good talk." The library of the mind can be made to be a noble institution if the right thoughts are continually poured into it.

CONFESSION
Never as strong as we could be and should.
Always far short of our best we fall.
Never as gracious and never as good,
Much too content with the nearby and small.

Finding too late when the day's at an end
Gone is the chance time will never restore.
Deep down we know the record is penned
Somehow or other we could have done more.

Striving for triumph, yet resting with less.
Seeking perfection, yet missing it far!
Counting some little achievement, success,
Ever evaders of glory we are.

Gifted for greatness yet fearing to try!
Born to be noble, yea failing the test!
Proud of well-doing, yet wondering why
Never we dare to live up to our best.

Mervin K. Myers, 35, Littlestown R. 2, was named as the Outstanding Young Farmer in the Littlestown area by the Littlestown Junior Chamber of Commerce at the annual banquet held in observance of Jaycee Week on Tuesday evening in St. Aloysius Parish Hall.

Married and the father of four children, Myers operates a 111-acre farm and is very active in many farmers' associations. He is a 1948 graduate of Littlestown High School and is a member of the local Parent-Teacher Association. Myers is a very active member of Christ United Church of Christ. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. H. Myers, near town. He was presented with a plaque and will be the chapter's entry in the state OYF competition.

The runners-up were John Updyke Jr., 24, Littlestown R. 1, and LeRoy Basehoar, 26, Littlestown R. 2. They received certificates of appreciation.

THREE JUDGES

Updyke, the father of three children, operates a 218-acre farm. He practices the new farming procedures and is a member of the Holstein Association. Basehoar is an active member of St. Paul's Lutheran Church.

Basehoar operates a farm of about 240 acres. He participates in the new cultivating process as well as the new milking techniques. He specializes in dairy and grain farming. Basehoar is the father of four children.

The judges were Ray T. Harner and John Gentzler, Littlestown R. D., and Associate County Agent Duane Duncan, Gettysburg.

HEAR STATE PREXY

Morton D. Rosen, Harrisburg, president of the Junior Chamber of Commerce of Pennsylvania, was the speaker for the occasion. In commemoration of National Jaycee Week, he reminded the Jaycees present that one could be proud to be a member of the national organization, stating, "Out of a reservoir of young manhood, has flowed a stream of energy." He listed 12 problems to be faced in the world today, and stated the Jaycees, as individual units, should strive for the betterment of mankind and the world. President Rosen, urging Jaycee members to provide leadership for their communities, said: "It is high time that we all realize that democracy does not give the people the government they hope for, but rather the government they deserve. When leadership on the local level breaks down, the people are forced into voting for prosperity instead of working for it." He challenged the group to take pride in themselves, their community and the Jaycees.

Paul F. Bolter Jr., a past president of the local chapter, was the master of ceremonies.

Introduced at the beginning of the program were Dean W. Bankert, secretary-treasurer of the local chapter; Richard Weaver, state secretary and JCI Senator from Harrisburg; J. Dr. Thomas R. Zeigler, a member of the Upper Adams Jaycees and state Jaycee Outstanding Young Farmer chairman, outlined the program on the national and state level to select the "Outstanding Young Farmer." In order to qualify, a farmer must derive a minimum of two-thirds of his income on farming operations.

Issues Warning On Machine Teaching

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Dr. Alice Kelher, a visiting professor of education at Wheelock College in Boston and a pioneer in using films for teaching, warns against the increasing use of mechanical teaching devices.

PISTONS CHECK WILT AND WIN

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Knickerbockers have parted company with Jerry West and Elgin Baylor for three weeks. If the Knicks had their way the separation would be permanent.

West and Baylor combined for 83 Los Angeles points Tuesday night as the Lakers whipped the Knicks 111-99 in the nightcap of a National Basketball Association double-header at New York. It was the Knicks' third straight loss—all to the Western Division leaders.

In the opener, the Philadelphia 76ers suffered their first setback with Wilt Chamberlain in the line-up, bowing 107-105 to the Detroit Pistons, who held the league leading score to 17 points.

The Cincinnati Royals topped San Francisco 115-107 in the other game scheduled, running the Warriors' record NBA losing string to 17 games.

West scored 47 points and Baylor 36 for the Lakers, who have beaten New York eight straight times this season. The pair hit 30 of the Lakers' 34 points in a three-period burst that opened a 17-point bulge.

The teams' next meeting is February 17 and it'll be too soon for the Knicks.

Carol Burnett To Resume Stage Role

NEW YORK (AP) — Carol Burnett will return to the Broadway stage next month in the musical "Fade Out — Fade In."

Miss Burnett and producer Lester Osterman announced jointly Tuesday that the show will reopen Feb. 15 with Miss Burnett again playing the lead role.

Four Firemen Had Perfect Attendance

Recognition was paid to four members of the Kingsdale Fire Company No. 1 for perfect attendance at 1964 meetings, when the first meeting of the new year was held Monday evening in the engine house, along the Littlestown-Taneytown Rd. They were Donald Bowers, Ernest Baumgardner, Theron M. Bair and Glenn Mummert.

Fire Chief Glenn Lipsey appointed the following truck drivers: Glenn E. Crouse, Harold O. Gerrick, Francis I. Gerrick, Raymond Reed, John Mort and Walter Bemiller.

One new member, Dale Dutterer, was enrolled. Harry Hilbert and Harold Gerrick, auditors, reported. President Henry Barnes presided and called for reports from Secretary Theron Bair and Treasurer Ernest Baumgardner. The next meeting of the company will be held Monday, February 22, 7:30 p.m.

HEAVIES WILL DRAW THROUGH

NEW YORK (AP) — The first big fight in town since Cassius Clay and Doug Jones sold out Madison Square Garden in 1963 has the Broadway crowd talking about Floyd Patterson and George Chuvalo.

Chances are the former heavyweight champion and the 27-year-old Canadian will pack the Garden Monday night but this is very hush, hush. Garden brass is afraid any talk of a sellout will scare away a few dollars. There will be closed-circuit television, but none in New York.

Patterson, a man with enough money to last him a lifetime, burns with an ambition to shut Cassius Clay's mouth and beat Sonny Liston. Although both jobs are formidable, Floyd at 30 persists in thinking he can accomplish both missions and then retire to an upstate farm. He regards Chuvalo as another step up the ladder, the toughest on this comeback.

Jimmy August, a veteran trainer of fighters, things Floyd has too much for Chuvalo. As August worked the corner opposite the Canadian in both a winning and losing cause, he may be considered somewhat of an authority on Chuvalo lore.

Americans mailed 1,655,000,000 airmail letters last year.

M. GONZALEZ GETS DECISION

HOUSTON (AP) — Manuel

Gonzalez, an underdog from Odessa, Tex., used an effective left jab to fashion a thin 10-round split decision over welterweight champion Emile Griffith of New York Tuesday night in a non-title over-the-weight bout.

Gonzalez, ranked third among the welterweights, weathered a furious stretch drive by Griffith and earned the verdict which could have gone either way.

Griffith weighed 149 and Gonzalez 150. Referee Jimmy Webb had Gonzalez ahead 97-94, judge Maxie Ross saw it 97-94 in favor of Griffith and judge Earl Keel voted for Gonzalez, 96-95. The Associated Press card had Griffith the victor, 97-96.

Griffith's downfall apparently was a result of a cautious start during which Gonzalez scored with left jabs.

The world champion, losing only his sixth fight in 49 outings, was intent in finding a way to reach Gonzalez' midsection.

1ST OF FABLED "4 HORSEMEN" DIES TUESDAY

PITTSBURGH (AP)—In the years to come when football is discussed, Harry Stuhldreher might not be remembered as a member of the National Football Hall of Fame but it's unlikely he will be forgotten as a member of Notre Dame's fabled Four Horsemen.

Stuhldreher, 63, the quarterback of the famed Fighting Irish backfield of 1922-24, died Tuesday in West Penn Hospital here. He had been admitted Dec. 29 and had undergone surgery Jan. 14.

His friends and teammates have their memories too — not just of Stuhldreher as a football player but also as a person.

"GREAT LITTLE GUY"

"We lost a great one," Elmer Layden, one of the Horsemen, said in Chicago.

"He has done so many great things for others through the years," Layden said, "he gave of himself — to his work, to young lads and to football and in many public appearances. 'The great little guy went out blocking, doing his job as he always did.'"

Don Miller of Cleveland, Stuhldreher's roommate and a member of the backfield, said Stuhldreher "was the greatest quarterback in the history of Notre Dame University... not only a great passer and blocker but also a great safety man on defense."

NAMED BY RICE

He "exemplified the real meaning of sportsmanship... an honor student, a great athlete, a gentleman and a warm friend," said Jim Crowley of Scranton, Pa., the fourth Horseman.

Stuhldreher and his three mates got the name of the Four Horsemen — a biblical allusion to the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse, war, famine, pestilence and death — from the late sports writer, Grantland Rice, in 1924.

Stuhldreher, a U.S. Steel Corp. executive, spent 33 years in football as a player, coach and executive until 1950.

Warriors In Easy Romp Over Northern; Host To Shippensburg On Friday

Rad Schultz and Kit Richardson shouldered the attack with 17 points each as the Gettysburg High cagers opened their drive for the second half championship of the Blue Mountain League Thursday evening by lacing Northern 67-48.

The Warriors were without the services of Dick Finkbner who was ill but who is expected to be ready to oppose Shippensburg, unbeaten in league play and first half champs, here Friday.

Gettysburg, opening with a blistering 23-10 first period, led from start to finish after Schultz and Richardson started the scoring with successive goals. Fred Marlowe tallied for the Polar Bears and then Denny Herring, Richardson and Chris Folkemer landed shots to make it 12-2.

BUILD LEAD
A foul by Bob Teeter and goal by Schultz made it 26-10 early in the second period and then the Bears added five straight points on a goal and three successive fouls by Marlowe. Gettysburg easily maintained its big advantage throughout although a pair of goals by Marlowe just before the half ended slashed the lead to 38-29. Marlowe landed three goals and seven of seven free throws for Northern during the period.

After Marlowe opened the third quarter with a goal, the Warriors ripped back on a goal by Folkemer, foul by Richardson, and goals by Folkemer and Richardson to make it 45-31. Northern fought back to within 49-41 but a run of seven straight points on a goal by Mike Herring, foul by Richardson, another goal by Mike Herring and one by Tony Bushey enabled the Warriors to lead 56-41 entering the last round.

Warriors reserves played much of the final period when Gettysburg had little trouble keeping its advantage.

Marlowe and Barry Zeigler collected 23 and 15 points for Northern. Folkemer trailed Schultz and Richardson in the Gettysburg scoring with 14 tallies.

JAYVEES WIN
The Gettysburg jayvees encountered little trouble in drubbing the Northern reserves in the preliminary 55-37 for their ninth win in 10 starts. Johnny Flynn and Dan Bream rimmed 13 and 11 points, respectively, to spark the offense.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A meeting between the National Football League Players Association and a committee of owners is okay with Art Rooney. But the Pittsburgh Steelers' owner thinks it should be deferred until after the NFL's annual meeting.

Rooney suggested Tuesday that the players apprise the owners of what they want so the owners could talk about it at their meeting in Palm Desert, Calif., next month and meet with the players later.

SHIPPENSBURG NIPS CANNERS IN OVERTIME

Biglerville, putting up one of its finest efforts of the season, threw a big scare into Shippensburg, unbeaten first half champs, before losing a 64-59 extra-period decision Tuesday evening at Biglerville as the second half race in the Blue Mountain League opened.

The Greyhounds were the pace-setters most of the way but after holding a narrow lead through the better part of the first half fell behind at 30-29 at intermission.

Three straight goals by Bob Yocum, Ron Pelka and John Wyrick to open the third period gave the Hounds a substantial lead and they led 46-39 going into the last round.

CANNERS RALLY

Dan Bushman's Canners came on strong in the late minutes via a goal by Bill Bonish, three straight fouls and a goal by Jim Taylor sending Biglerville to the front 55-51 with 1:30 left. Shippensburg came back on a pair of fouls by Wyrick and a goal by Burke to knot the score at 55-55 with 30 seconds left. Neither team was able to score in the remaining moments.

Tarner and Bonish matched goals to start the overtime but then Burke and Tarner retaliated with goals and Yocum three fouls to ice the decision as Bonish finished the scoring with a Canner goal.

Shippensburg, opponent of Gettysburg here Friday, was led by Wyrick, the league's leading scorer, with 20 points.

Bonish, Jim Taylor and Paul Hartman led the Canners with 18, 13 and 12.

The Shippensburg jayvees took the preliminary 34-18.

J. MARICHAL IS HAVING HIS PROBLEMS

By BEN OLAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
To be frank, Herman Franks, new manager of San Francisco's baseball Giants, hasn't much to worry about yet.

Then...maybe, there is some cause for concern.

The distress signal emanates from Santo Domingo where Juan Marichal, the Giants' ace pitcher, has developed groin trouble and a troublesome boil under his right arm.

SOUNDLY TAGGED

What's more he was ineffective professionally Tuesday while working in the Dominican championships. The big right-hander was tagged for seven runs and eight hits in less than five innings.

Marichal's team, the Escogidos, lost 8-6 to Aguila Cibae-nas. Willie Smith, Los Angeles Angels' outfielder, homered for the winners while Morris Stephens, a lefty owned by Philadelphia, was credited with the victory.

Marichal won 21 games for San Francisco last season despite a back ailment that sidelined him for a month in late summer.

HASNT SIGNED

He has yet to sign his 1965 contract. However, two batterymates, catchers Tom Haller and Del Crandall, came to terms Tuesday. Haller hit .258 with 16 homers last year, while the 35-year-old Crandall batted .231 in 69 games.

The rival Los Angeles Dodgers also received three signed contracts. They were from shortstop Maury Wills, pitcher Joe Moeller and catcher Hector Valle.

Among others who signed were second-baseman Don Buford and pitcher Tom John of the Chicago White Sox, pitcher Al Worthington of the Minnesota Twins, pitchers Pete Lovrich and Ron Tompkins and second-baseman Tony Larussa of Kansas City, and pitchers Bob Lee and Don Lee of the Angels.

OSLO (AP)—The United States is not among the 15 nations that will compete in the world speed skating championships here February 13-14, the organizing committee announced Tuesday night.

HILVERSUM, The Netherlands (AP)—Sjoukje Dijkstra of Holland, European, World and Olympic champion figure skater, was named Holland's sportswoman of 1964 by a jury of sports writers Tuesday night.

In other games Buchanan defeated Fairfield 64-52 at Mercersburg and Scotland copped a 72-60 decision over Bermudian at York Springs.

New Oxford avenged an earlier defeat at the hands of Greencastle. The contest between the two division leaders was controlled entirely by the Adams Countians. The Colonials jumped to a 22-14 first-period lead and held a 37-24 margin at intermission.

Scoring ace John Harner of New Oxford and Greencastle's Larry Swope had a personal scoring duel throughout the game. Harner landed 34 tallies while hitting on 12 of 13 free throws.

Swope netted 31 points. New Oxford converted 19 of its 20 fouls. Jock Sneddon and Larry Phil followed Harner in the scoring with 17 and 11 points, respectively.

New Oxford is now 6-2 in league play and 11-2 overall. Greencastle has won seven decisions in eight league games.

Gregg Wortz poured through 25 points in a losing cause as his Fairfield team lost to Buchanan. Wortz made good on 11 field shots and three charity tosses. Mike Wyatt followed with 16 points while the remainder of the team contributed but 11 tallies.

Buchanan tallied 10 points in the first quarter and led 28-19 at the half. The second half turned into a see-saw battle late in the game with Fairfield coming out on top, 19-18, in the final stanza. Rhodes topped the winners with 17 points followed by Heinbaugh's 16.

Outscoring Bermudian 45-28 in the second half, Scotland came from behind to topple the Adams County team 72-60 on the Eagles' court. Bermudian led 17-16 after the first eight minutes and at the end of the half was in front 32-27. The loss was Bermudian's seventh in eight league games and 10th in 14 contests.

Ken O'Brien topped the winner's scoring with 24 tallies while Grafton Wagner registered the same number for the Eagles. Tom Myers also chipped in with 13 for the Eagles.

JUNIOR HIGH UPSETS EAST TO TAKE LEAD

Gettysburg Junior High took over sole possession of first place in the South Penn Basketball League by defeating hitherto undefeated Waynesboro East 40-34 here Tuesday evening in a hard-fought battle.

The victory was particularly sweet for Coach Jim Papoutsis' Braves, avenging the locals' lone defeat of the campaign. Gettysburg is now 5-1 in the league and 6-1 overall. East is 4-1 in the circuit and also 6-1 for the entire season.

A big third period carried the Braves to victory. They trailed 17-14 at half time but in the third period outscored their opponents 13-6 to grab the lead at 27-23 and then hung on in an evenly-waged final period.

"Butch" Alberts scored six of his eight points in the big third quarter with Eric Maitland and Eddie Hughes adding goals while Mike Varian caged two fouls and Bo Davies one.

CLING TO LEAD

Seven foul conversions plus goals by Maitland, Davies and Hughes carried the Braves in the last stanza. Phil Gardner, a fine 6-1 performer for the Bulldogs, hit for three goals and a foul to provide the bulk of East's attack. He wound up with 18 tallies to be high man for the evening.

An 11-2 lead gained in the first period enabled East reserves to take a close 19-17 decision in the preliminary. Both teams put up fine defensive games and scoring was at a minimum.

Thursday evening the Braves travel to Waynesboro to meet West in another league twin bill.

Psychiatrist Blames Stress Of City Living For Failure Of Witnesses To Give Help

By MICHAEL RHEA
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Four women underwent physical pain, indignity or both last year before the eyes of neighbors and passers-by.

A young woman named Kitty Genovese was stabbed to death in New York City.

Another young woman, nude and bleeding, struggled with her attacker on a New York doorstep. She told police she had been raped.

In Philadelphia, two youths snatched the purse of a woman as she lay injured and helpless after a traffic accident.

The fourth young woman gave birth to a baby on an Oklahoma City street in 34-degree weather.

FEAR AND STRESS

In each case the incidents were seen by a number of persons who didn't lift a hand to help.

It is possible that they could not.

A Johns Hopkins Medical School psychiatrist says that besides a fear of getting involved some of the witnesses may have been frozen to inaction by the constant stress of crowded city living.

Dr. W. Horsley Gantt, who studied under the late Soviet scientist Ivan Pavlov, is the psychiatrist.

INCAPABLE OF REACTION

Dr. Gantt, associate professor emeritus of psychiatry and director of the Pavlovian Laboratory at the Johns Hopkins School of Medicine, feels that many people are thrown into "a nonreactive state," partly by the overstimulation that is part of big-city living.

"The more persons an individual meets," explained Dr. Gantt, "the more chance he has to react, to respond to commands, requests and demands for action."

"Reacting to a large number of people every day over a long period eventually leaves the individual incapable of reacting appropriately to stress."

CONDITIONED REFLEX

Pavlov — with a bell, a dog and food — established the conditioned reflex as a basis of behavior, which Dr. Gantt said was "the first step to understanding why people may fail to offer aid in an emergency."

Pavlov fed a dog as he rang a bell. After a time the dog just salivated when the bell rang whether or not the food was present.

"A dog can be starved almost to the point of death by a person commanding him not to take food," Dr. Gantt said. "It shows the effect of one individual on another."

CONFLICT BRINGS STRESS

"Strong reactions, depending on the presence of another individual — like the dog who won't eat — are universal

GIVE ARMLESS DRIVER NEW TEST AT WHEEL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — "A handicap is a state of mind," asserted Ray R. Myers, as he took a new driver's test to regain his license, revoked by the state.

Myers, armless since birth, took the examination Tuesday on the state driving course and in the traffic of downtown Lancaster.

His car has no special equipment. He holds the steering wheel with his right foot and uses his left foot for the floor pedals. His left knee operates the turn signals and his right knee is used for shifting with the automatic transmission.

"A STATE OF MIND"

"I don't feel handicapped at all," Myers said. "A handicap is a state of mind."

State Police Cpl. John Wagaman, who administered the driving and oral examinations, said:

"He drove very well. There were no unusual incidents. I took him on the standard driving course and then into downtown Lancaster, through normal traffic. He is very capable."

Myers, 54, has a 29-year record of traffic safety. His only driving mishap was in 1935 when another car struck his in the rear.

REVOKED BY COMPUTER

But a new computer used by the State Traffic Bureau discovered Myers' armless condition earlier this month and revoked his license.

He was awarded a temporary license by Lancaster County Court when he said he needs the car to drive to work each day. He works as a timekeeper for a boat firm in Lancaster, five miles from his Soudersburg home.

Falls 3,600 Feet; No Bones Broken

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Gordon Lowe, 25, a sports parachutist who has made 17 jumps, credits a soggy pasture for keeping him from "getting busted up real good."

He fell 3,600 feet Sunday suspended from a parachute that had opened only one-third. Lowe, landing on his back, made an eight-inch dent in the muddy ground.

"All I remember is the shock of hitting," he said. "It took a few seconds to realize I could move."

Dr. C. B. Anagnostis of La Marque, president of the Galveston Skydivers, ran to Lowe, checked and found no bones broken — only severe bruises.

LUZERNE PLAN IS APPEALED

HARRISBURG (AP) — Four school districts in Luzerne County are appealing a reorganization plan submitted to the State Board of Education by the County School Board.

The school districts of Hanover, Wright Twp., Plains-Lafflin and Bear Creek voiced their appeals at a hearing Tuesday. Under the county plan, they would be part of District 9.

Spokesmen for Hanover, Wright Twp. and Plains-Lafflin school districts criticized the procedural activities of the County School Board in setting up the plan.

They said the board did not properly confer with them in compiling the plan for District 9. They argued that they were not given sufficient time to air their views.

A Bear Creek School District spokesman, E. Walter Samuel, suggested that the size of proposed District 9 be reduced to include no more than the city of Wilkes-Barre, Bear Creek Twp., and possibly Laurel Run Borough and Buck Twp.

The federal government owns 763,900,000 acres of land in the 50 states, or more than one out of every three acres.

consider the computer's decision and the new test was arranged.

State Safety Commissioner Harry H. Brainerd watched the test, but said the results would not be disclosed for a week to 10 days.

LBJ AWAITING OK TO ATTEND WINSTON RITES

By FRANK CORMIER
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson awaited a new medical checkup today before deciding whether to fly to London for Sir Winston Churchill's funeral.

Johnson, smiling and winking, walked out of the Naval Medical Center in suburban Bethesda, Md., Tuesday after a 3½-day stay with a heavy cold and sore throat.

Press secretary George E. Reedy said the President was "in very good shape" but that a final decision on whether he would fly to England was being postponed.

Dr. W. J. Gould, New York throat specialist, was flying to Washington today to join Johnson's personal physician, Rear Adm. George G. Burkley, in giving the chief executive a thorough post-hospital examination. Gould had flown to the President's bedside early Saturday morning but returned to New York Tuesday.

The delay in a decision was creating problems on both sides of the Atlantic. The British lacked definite word on whether they would have to provide for a distinguished U.S. guest at the funeral on Saturday and American officials were unable to nail down solid arrangements for the presidential trip — an undertaking that involves hundreds of individuals in and out of the White House.

Johnson wore a hat and heavy winter overcoat when he emerged from the hospital. Asked how he felt, he smiled and winked.

Guilty Cadets In Cheating Probe Expected To Resign

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Fidgety cadets continue to parade before a special board of officers at a secret hideout in the investigation of cheating at the U.S. Air Force Academy. The probe may stretch into weeks.

Rumors and counter-rumors fly over the picturesque 18,000-acre campus at the foot of the Rocky Mountains. Administrators have clamped a tight gag on everyone connected with the school.

A Colorado Springs newspaper reported that a faculty member was involved in the case. More than 100 cadets, including 30 members of the football team, have been implicated.

"No member of the faculty or the coaching staff is in any way involved," said Col. Richard Haney, chief of the information office.

One cadet, disdaining the order for silence, told a newspaper reporter that football coach Ben Martin would have only eight varsity players back next fall, the others having resigned from the academy as the result of the scandal.

"No comment," said the academy.

The only hard news that came out of the administration building Tuesday was that six more cadets had resigned.

The superintendent, Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, made the announcement in a 112-word statement which also said the investigation was painstaking and probably would last until Feb. 10.

After that, he said, the results will be forwarded to Secretary of the Air Force Eugene M. Zuckert for review. The entire process might take 30 to 60 days.

The academy placed the resignation figure to date at 35, although unofficial but informed sources said it was much higher. Forty reportedly resigned Monday, joining the 29 announced by the academy last week.

"We assume every one of the boys implicated will resign rather than face court-martial," an academy spokesman said. "It's the best way out, but it's a slow process."

The academy admitted that until the cadets are mustered out of service — a period that could cover 30 to 60 days after resigning — they are not permitted to talk of the case to anyone, not even their parents.

Presenting America's slowest fastback.

There are some new cars around with very streamlined roofs. But they are not Volkswagens. They are called fastbacks, and some of them are named after fish.

You can tell them from Volkswagens because a VW won't go over 72 mph. (Even though the speedometer shows a wildly optimistic top speed of 90.)

So you can easily break almost any speed law in the country in a VW.

And you can cruise right past gas stations, repair shops and tire stores.

The VW engine may not be the fastest, but it's among the most advanced. It's made of magnesium alloy (one step better than aluminum). And it's so well machined you may never add oil between changes.

The VW engine is cooled by air, so it can never freeze up or boil over.

It won't have anything to do with water.

So we saw no reason to name it after a fish.

WOMEN'S FEET WERE HISTORIC SYMBOL OF SEX

ATLANTA (AP) — As a sex symbol, the shoe is kicking up its heels.

A low-throated shoe is slashed to show the cleavage of the toes, much as a dress is cut to show the cleavage of the bosom.

Another sexy shoe is a nude one made only of tiny little straps. Or the glittery gold and silver bangles shoes much in evidence among Atlanta's Metropolitan Opera audience.

No one who has ever taken a good look at women's shoes could ever think their chief value is comfort. The teetering needle heel with the dagger point toes of a few seasons ago was neither comfortable nor alluring.

GET THE POINT?

Or take the spiked heel. Judo experts advise women of its weapon to protect themselves if assaulted.

When Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson flew back to Washington after a whirlwind day of activities here, news reporters said the first thing she did on the plane was to kick off her shoes and comment:

"I violated a rule of mine today, wearing high heels at a reception."

The shoes as a symbol of allure reaches into history.

Egyptian women were jeweled rings on their toes, and ankle bangles, painting the soles of their feet red.

People were well aware of the seductiveness of shoes in Biblical times. Judith upset Holofernes in the Apocryphal book with "sandals which ravished his eyes."

THE RED SHOES

The Roman bride wore saffron colored shoes as a romantic tradition, but no Roman woman of good repute would have worn red shoes.

As proof of the emphasis of the shoes as status and seduction, one has only to look at Chinese women's feet from the 2000s to the 20th century — they were often crippled to a size resembling a lily root.

History isn't clear, but this probably came about because the Empress Taki was born with tiny club feet. Either a decree was handed down when she was born that no woman was noble unless she had tiny feet, or the empress decreed it herself when she

James MARLOW Reports

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP) — This is the baffle season when the taxpayer, if he has interest and energy enough, can trudge through that wilderness called the President's budget.

This is the one area of government above all where the taxpayer, who has to foot the bill, can understand the least even though it's all laid out for him in a huge volume full of vast detail and dollar signs.

President Johnson presented his budget Monday — saying it will cost $99.7 billion to run the government another year — after working on it for months to keep expected spending down, particularly below $100 billion.

DON'T KNOW ENOUGH

To show how much of an economist he is, he said government departments and agencies asked for a bottom figure of $108.5 billion. But how are you going to tell whether the $99.7 billion he asked is too much or too little?

You may have very strong opinions about the principle of foreign aid or federal aid to education or medical care for the aged but here you can base your opinion on social attitudes or unexamined prejudices.

But you don't have the comfort of prejudice in examining the arithmetic of the budget. You don't know enough about realized her deformity.

BOUND TO TOTTER

At any rate, it became a fashion which handicapped Chinese women for centuries. The best they could manage was a tottering walk.

Old shoes are still thrown at newlyweds for luck — and horse-shoes nailed above doors for the same reason.

Jayne Mansfield, the movie star whose chief attraction is not in her feet, says she owns 200 pairs of shoes.

"European men consider a woman's feet part of her sexual attraction far more than American men do," says Miss Mansfield. "Perhaps that's because American women don't emphasize their feet as one of their most potent physical charms."

BUNCH OF FIGURES

The budget, a bunch of figures covering every facet of government, is put together by people who are supposed to know the most about the problems the money is intended to solve: the heads of departments and agencies.

An outsider may shudder at the size of Johnson's $99.7-billion request or, at this time of growing population and rising needs, feel Johnson was a magician in keeping costs below $100 billion at all.

But either conclusion is an opinion without true knowledge. For how, for instance, can an outsider know whether the $49 billion Johnson asked for defense, with all that involves, is too ample or too thin?

PARTISAN VIEWS

The politicians are no help. As was expected, they sound like a re-run of themselves from last year and the year before since their reactions are predictable, depending on the party of the one doing the talking.

The Republicans were customarily critical Monday, particularly of what they called "bookkeeping manipulation," and they complained about the "same old sleight of hand."

The Democrats were kinder, naturally, and to nobody's surprise the House Democratic leader, Carl Albert of Oklahoma, said that by every realistic test the budget is fiscally sound beyond any doubt.

But this hardly came under the heading of news since Albert, as the Democrats' House captain, has to work hand-in-glove with Johnson all year.

In politics $100 billion is taking on the appearance of a dirty word and the Republicans' House leader, Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, said he had some suspicion that, to keep the spending total under $100 billion, "they are overestimating revenues and underestimating expenses."

In 1962 President John F. Kennedy's budget was $92.5 billion and it was $98.8 billion in 1963, highest in history up to that time.

QUITE A SPLASH

Then Johnson made quite a splash as an economist when, after taking over, in 1964 he proposed a $97.9 - billion budget, which was lower than Kennedy's of the year before.

This year his $99.7 billion became the highest budget ever. Skidding around just under the $100-billion lid can't go on since government costs keep climbing as its responsibilities increase.

Next year the figure will probably top $100 billion. Then the Republicans will probably call Johnson a spendthrift. Albert and other Democrats will justify, and the taxpayer won't be any surer of what's too much or too little than he is now.

George Washington, his long hair powdered white, delivered the first inaugural address in New York City on April 30, 1789. The first President was apparently so nervous that his hands trembled. His voice often was inaudible. Washington apologized that he was "unpracticed in civil administration," and announced that he would accept no salary.

A Lovelier You

By MARY SUE MILLER

Are you in the clutch of routine? You may well be, if you have not had a break since summer's holiday. But don't let it get you down.

Unbroken routine has a most dismal effect on both one's looks and spirits. The obvious is a winter vacation. But, for those of us who are tied to responsibility, the simplest measures—right on home grounds—offer a refreshed look and outlook. Just try these suggestions:

● Start a vigorous program of spot reducing exercises, if your figure reflects the need. Work-outs revitalize your energy, along with your figure. (For new routines, watch the column.)

● Give yourself some extra-special beauty care—a series of facials or scalp treatments, a new set of make-up in spring colors or a new hairstyle attuned to spring fashion.

● Lift your wardrobe out of the doldrums. It can be done with any gaiety from a flower in your lapel to a flowered petticoat. A dress in tender green—a crisp celery shade—would really make you feel like a harbinger of spring.

● Make a point of using a flower fragrance. Spray your bedroom, your closets and yourself. There's nothing like a garden scent to chase wintry gloom away.

● How about getting a new interest? It would give you new zest. The most!

Churchill's Humor Breaks Through Solemn Tributes

LONDON (AP) — Sir Winston Churchill's humor keeps breaking through the flood of words written about him since he died. Amid the grandeur of his deeds and his sonorous rolling sentences, there was always the impudent colloquial phrase to set the rafters ringing with laughter.

Throughout a career in which he wielded words like weapons, Sir Winston could never let an opportunity pass to deploy a wit that could be conciliatory or savage.

ALL WERE TARGETS

Friends as well as political enemies were his targets. After a speech by Anthony Eden Churchill remarked in conversation: "He used every cliché in the English language except perhaps 'Gentlemen will please adjust their dress before leaving.'"

In the postwar years after the voters turned his government out, he enjoyed himself most with the Socialists of the Labor party.

CRIPPS CRITIC

He said of Sir Stafford Cripps: "There but for the grace of God goes God." He once described Clement Attlee as "a sheep in sheep's clothing."

When Sir Alfred Bosom was speaking in Commons one day, Churchill muttered: "Bosom, Bosom, Extraordinary name, neither one thing nor the other."

Once as a young man he had just grown a mustache and was talking politics incessantly at a dinner party. A young woman chided him: "I dislike both your politics and your mustache."

"Don't distress yourself, madam," Churchill replied. "You are unlikely to come into contact with either."

Churchill had a strict code of courtesy but could be most disconcerting. A young politician who lunched with him was given an exceptional glass of claret and sipped it carefully.

Sir Winston was not impressed.

"Sip burgundy, swill claret," he grunted.

Even in his twilight years, his gift of repartee did not desert him. One day, after he had moved with difficulty into his usual seat in the House of Commons, two members behind commented with pity on the deterioration of his faculties.

To their horror, his huge head swung round to look at them and a rasping voice remarked: "And, they tell me he's very deaf, too."

Police Hold Mayor To Prevent Riots

MADRAS, India (AP) — Police arrested hundreds of persons Tuesday, including several Parliament members and the mayor of Madras, to prevent them from demonstrating publicly against introduction of Hindi as the official Indian language.

Those arrested were members of the Dravidians, the separatist organization of original inhabitants of Madras, which had refused a government request that they demonstrate later and not today, the 15th anniversary of the Indian republic.

"LETTERMEN" PLAY COLLEGE CAMPUS TOURS

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There is gold on those college campuses. If you don't believe it, ask The Lettermen, who matriolated to the tune of $300,000 on the higher-learning circuit last year.

The Capitol Records singing group is composed of Tony Butala, Jim Pike and Bob Engemann, three full-voiced young men who never earned a college letter. They stayed in college only two years apiece, but they do own high school letters in baseball and basketball to lay legitimate claim to their billing.

KEEP CAMPUS DATES

The trio is now going to college on a steady basis, but they will earn their degrees only at the bank. For a greater part of the school year they travel from school to school, performing their 2½-hour show to capacity audiences.

The returns can be gratifying. Their record so far is a one-night stand before 11,000 at the University of Florida. The boys' take-home pay: $7,000.

"Our average is about $3,500 a night," explained Tony, blond spokesman for The Lettermen, "and we can play five or six nights a week. Most of the other acts that play colleges fly to their dates, but we go by our own bus. Thus we can plan our tours to take in all the colleges

BALMAIN TOPS FASHION NEWS IN PRICE TAGS

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON

PARIS (AP) — As long as a man has money to spend, he will have no complaints about the spring collection Pierre Balmain introduced here Tuesday.

Pretty mannequins who smile, waistlines at waists, and hemlines at knees, youthfulness without silliness, softness without being languorous and wilted, chic, elegance, both vivid and delicate hues and opulence in tasteful doses — all the things men generally approve in fashion but the price tags — appeared in due course on the platform of the Balmain showroom.

NEED NO JEWELRY

The jewelry industry might have complaints. Daytime suits and dresses were so finely detailed with collars and bands of honeycomb and hemstitching that even a string of pearls would have detracted.

As for the party fare, Balmain added his own sparklers as jewel encrusted cuff bands and belts on sleek silk suits. Jewel embroidered overblouses with plenty of gold thread thrown in and some twinklers on the formal wear preclude getting the diamonds out of the safe.

ENCOURAGES FURS

But what husbands won't spend on jewelry, they'll put in furs, if Balmain has his way — even if this is a spring collection. The courturier's mannequins nuzzled in skinny white minks made of alternate bands of hairy and sheared pelts.

Many veterans of the fashion wars thought they recognized shades of Capt. Molyneux, the designer making a comeback Monday after a 15-year retirement. Nevertheless there was plenty of Balmain originality, circa 1965.

in an area, big or small."

NEVER ON SUNDAY

The Lettermen, church goes all, say "never on Sunday" in their tour planning, even though there is a trend for colleges to plan entertainments on Sunday. That is the trio's day of rest.

If colleges are such a lush field, why don't more entertainers play them?

"Because you need to have a special appeal," Tony explained. "College kids will play to see entertainers with whom they can identify."

VARIED EVENTS ARE TOP NEWS ACROSS NATION

EDITOR'S NOTE — Cold tongue in Massachusetts, a snake sporting event in Texas, and an epidemic of courtesy on Chicago buses are among this week's glimpses of the varied U.S. scene.

MILTON, Mass. (AP) — Ever since the invention of metal signs, mail boxes and other outside metallic objects, boys have been intrigued by what would happen if you stuck your tongue on the cold metal.

Paul Daly Jr., 11 found out during a recent cold spell.

His tongue got stuck to the metal, really stuck.

Paul's tongue came in contact with a road sign post while he and Jerry Sheehan, 7, were meandering to the store. How it happened, neither Paul nor Jerry tattled.

FIREMEN RESCUE

But, with Paul gesturing wildly and uttering strange sounds, Jerry ran for help.

Firemen and policemen hustled to the scene and hot compresses were applied to free Paul's tongue.

Paul's mother, commented after the crisis:

"I don't know what made him do it. But I'm sure he won't do it again."

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP) — The foxy people of Nolan County plan to pull another smart one next month.

The residents of the west-central Texas county, for a couple of hundred bucks in prizes, will get people from all over to come in and do a job for them that they couldn't hire most people to do.

They call it a sporting event, and at that it may be more sporting than some other contests. For the hunted can bite back.

It's the Rattlesnake Roundup. Top winner is the person or team that can bring in the most pounds of snake. Dates are Feb. 12-14.

BAN FIREARMS

The snakes must be alive when they arrive for the weighing. No firearms are allowed the hunters.

The live snakes are taken to a pit in the Nolan County Coliseum, where various uses are made of them, largely a process of extracting the venom for snakebite serum and research.

CHICAGO (AP) — Chicago's publicity owned mass transportation system is finding its drive for employee courtesy paying off. In 1964 the riding public took time to phone or write 2,700 messages of commendation.

This was a 135 per cent increase over commendations for 1963 and 22 per cent of all operating personnel now are card-carrying members of the Courtesy Caravan Club.

MEMBER CREDITS

Club membership is granted all workers commended. "Most commendations were for ordinary acts of service or the pleasant or helpful attitude maintained by the employee," said George L. DeMent, chairman of the Chicago Transit Board.

These, he said, are some of the ways the members qualified:

Greeting a rider in a pleasant manner and cautioning him to watch his step when boarding or alighting.

Helping blind or other handicapped riders up and down bus steps.

Calling streets and stations distinctly.

Giving a break to persons trying to catch a bus.

Alaskans are among the most talkative people in the world, averaging 609 telephone calls each year per person.

Soldiers Killed By Exhaust Fumes

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Two American soldiers died of asphyxiation in a jeep during a field exercise last week, the Army announced Tuesday.

They were identified as S. Sgt. Albert N. Bolen, 32, of Longmont, Colo., and Sgt. Farrell L. Flow, 33, of Joaquin, Tex.

They were found overcome by carbon-monoxide fumes Friday after they and another soldier had fallen asleep in their jeep north of Seoul, the Army said.

The third soldier, whose identity was not announced, was reported in fair condition.

BOOKKEEPING HOUSEWIFE IS BOUND TO WIN

By JOY STILLEY
NEW YORK (AP) — The bank and I play a little game. They try to catch me in a mistake and I try to catch them in one.

So far the bank has won every time.

It doesn't seem quite fair, though. There are so many of them and only one of me. They have all those adding machines and computers. I have only 10 fingers and — in an emergency — an equal number of toes.

The contest can't stay this one-sided forever. Any month now they'll forget to subtract 10 cents for a check, or ignore the service charge, or even make 6 from 13 come out 8 like I do.

HAD FIGHTING CHANCE

I'm not exactly the one that aptitude tests would pick to balance a checkbook. But my husband's talent along those lines is even less awe-inspiring than mine. So I became the family accountant.

In the beginning I had a fighting chance. We have the type of account whereby you pay 10 cents for each check used. At the time I embarked on my banking career the customer purchased a book of 20 checks in advance for $2. They were mine, outright. All I had to do was concentrate on subtracting the amount of the check from the previous balance, adding the sum of a deposit now and then.

The bank decided it was making things too easy for me and tried to live up to the game. They started giving out the checks free. The 10 cents was charged after the check cleared. I had to dig out the old family abacus to come to terms with that system but I finally mastered it.

BACK IN GAME

Whereupon the gleeful bankers devised a new scheme. The statement showed that the face value of cleared checks had been subtracted. But for some reason the dime charges weren't taken off until the next month. That did it! From then on their figures and mine disagreed violently — always in multiples of 10.

Apparently they had a few other outraged patrons who didn't have master's degrees in higher mathematics. Just as I was about to hide my money under the mattress a new ukase came through. The 10-cent charge henceforth would come off along with the check. I was back in the game.

FORFEIT FINES

Fines have been forfeited in Westminster by the following on motor code violation charges: Harold E. Keilholtz, Taneytown, $6, speed too great; Roy D. Weishaar, Taneytown, $9, exceeding 30; Peggy J. Stotsky, Taneytown, $13, operating without license; James R. Hahn, $8, and Wayne A. Fair, $13, both of Taneytown, speed too great; Richard E. Sell, Taneytown, $8, exceeding 30; Robert L. Lookingbill, Taneytown, $8, stop sign.

OVERCHARGING BY UTILITIES BEING DENIED

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Officials of several privately-owned electric companies in Pennsylvania have branded as "untrue" and "harmful" allegations by a National Rural Electric Cooperative Association economist that they overcharge their customers.

Ronnie Straw, a staff economist for the association, made the charges in a report based on the period 1956-1962. He said he based the allegation on "the widely accepted standard of six per cent return on invested capital after deduction of all costs." CALLED "HARMFUL"

The Philadelphia Electric Co. said the association's charge "is without fact and is harmful to Philadelphia Electric and private enterprise." The report said Philadelphia Electric overcharged its customers by $59,812,000 during 1956-1962.

"The Association is not an official government organization," the company said. "It is interested in promotion of government ownership of power and is opposed to the democratic systems of free enterprise."

"There is absolutely no truth in the wearisome, perennial charge by the Electric Cooperative Association," said Joseph Sharfsin, chairman of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission.

CITE REDUCTIONS

"On the contrary," Sharfsin added, "I call the association's attention to the fact that electric utilities in Pennsylvania have reduced rates by nearly $30 million since 1960."

Duquesne Light and West Penn Power, two Western Pennsylvania firms, declined to comment on the rural cooperative charges. A West Penn spokesman said, however, that the allegations are a "hypothetical thing based on assumption." He said West Penn is closely regulated by the state PUC and the check began in 1963. The treasury had conducted a survey of taxpayers to determine their interest in a savings bond refund. A significant number of those questioned said they would take their tax refunds in Series E bonds if given the option.

May Accept Bonds For Tax Refunds

Taxpayers were reminded today they may take federal tax refunds in U. S. savings bonds.

The individual income tax forms — 1040 and 1040A — provide a space in which taxpayers may elect U. S. savings bonds for their refunds. Information on the option also appears in the instructions for both of these forms.

Malaysia Charges Military Buildup

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Malaysia accused Indonesia Tuesday of continuing its military buildup along the borders of the British-backed federation.

Defense Minister Tun Abdul Razak said Indonesia has moved several fresh brigades to the frontier in Borneo and has carried out a buildup in the portion of Sumatra that lies across the Strait of Malacca from the Malaysian mainland.

"Missile Gap" Myth Stimulated Race To Give U.S. 4-1 Lead Over Russia

EDITOR'S NOTE—In 1960 the "missile gap" was on everyone's lips. It played an important part in the presidential campaign and affected relations between the United States and the Soviet Union. In the first of three articles, Everett S. Allen, staff writer of the New Bedford (Mass.) Standard-Times, details how the "missile gap" issue developed. The Standard-Times made the series available to The Associated Press.

By EVERETT S. ALLEN

Standard-Times Staff Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Four years after its climax the non-existent "missile gap," born of unsubstantiated fear that the Russians were ahead of us, emerges as one of the most dramatically significant myths in American history.

Although official opinions on the subject vary greatly, this is the unmistakable conclusion to be found in examining views of present and former military and civilian leaders of the Eisenhower-Kennedy-Johnson administrations, which have been made available to me.

DENIES EXPLOITATION

Initially, I asked Dr. Jerome B. Wiesner, former adviser of President John F. Kennedy and now dean of science of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, whether the Kennedy forces had knowingly exploited in the 1960 campaign a "missile gap" that did not exist.

Dr. Wiesner, who assisted the missile effort in major degree during both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations, denied this. In reply, he suggested this story be written, and arranged for some of the interviews, in the belief it would constitute a public service through verification of the historic events involved.

FIRST-HAND WITNESSES

I have talked with, or been given the authorized views of more than a dozen persons whose positions offered them some first-hand knowledge of the events involved. As a result, I have concluded that, despite the fact there never was any such thing, the "missile gap" produced these results: Among others:

1. It stimulated a U.S.-U.S.S.R. missile race, in which the United States maintains a 4-1 lead as the result of a $17-billion program initiated by President Dwight D. Eisenhower and accelerated by President Kennedy.

BOTH DEVELOPED ARSENALS
2. Caused both nations to approximately double their missile arsenals so that, as advocates of gradual disarmament are quick to point out, our relative positions remains the same, despite the expenditure of billions. By early 1963, the Soviet Union will have 200 intercontinental ballistic missiles, double the number of a year earlier. By the same time, the U.S. will have 925 ICBMs, compared with 475 a year earlier.

3. Provoked nationwide fears that marred unjustly the records of both the Eisenhower and Kennedy administrations and provided one of the major issues that defeated Vice President Richard M. Nixon and elected Kennedy to the White House.

EISENHOWER DEFENSE

The Eisenhower administration was not delinquent in its preparatory program, as Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former Air Force secretary, and others charged (and some Republicans in government believed it, too).

The Kennedy team was not deceitful when it claimed that a missile gap threatened this country during the campaign months of 1960 and announced, after the election, that it did not exist. The shift was due to mor and better intelligence, and to the fact that Kennedy, as a campaigning senator, was denied missile information possessed by the White House.

TWO MAJOR ISSUES

Two incidents in this historic drama, hitherto unpublished, illustrate poignantly the role of the psychological on both sides of the Iron Curtain in the development of the "missile gap" impact.

As Democratic candidate for president of the United States, Kennedy was barred in August 1960 from receiving a full-scale briefing on U.S.-U.S.S.R. missile strength at Strategic Air Command headquarters in Omaha. The briefing had been promised to him by the Republican administration.

Former Sen. Pierre Salinger, D-Calif., previously President Kennedy's press secretary, related that "we (the Kennedy campaign entourage) went to SAC headquarters with the understanding that the senator was to be fully briefed.

"Apparently, the night before, there were orders from Washington that he was not to get a full briefing. The senator was damned mad about it."

BRIEFING DENIED

Salinger said, "I can't say the orders (denying Kennedy a full briefing) came from President Eisenhower, but certainly from or via the secretary of defense (Thomas S. Gates Jr.)."

When I questioned Salinger, he replied, "I don't know why the Pentagon order was given."

Denied facts of the "missile gap" in possession of the Eisenhower administration, Kennedy was more inclined to listen to those advisers, including Symington, who felt it was a major issue.

LATE CLARIFICATION

Two months after the visit to SAC headquarters and 5,000 miles away in Moscow, the full ramifications of the Omaha rebuke to the successful Democratic candidate were made clear to President Kennedy's advisers, Dr. Walt Rostow and Dr. Wiesner. Wiesner and Rostow, an MIT economics professor later appointed to government by Kennedy and now chairman of the State Department Policy Planning Council, were in Russia attending a Pugwash conference of East-West scientists.

Soviet Deputy Minister Vasilyevich Kuznetsov knew Dr. Wiesner on a first-name basis, an association dating from an international convention on safeguards against surprise attack in 1958.

RUSSIA SPECULATION

Kuznetsov sent a staff member to contact Wiesner, asking if the latter would like to see him. Wiesner said he would and suggested Dr. Rostow come, too.

In his office in the Foreign Ministry, Kuznetsov commented that he had become aware, from U.S. news coverage of Kennedy's campaign speeches, that the President was being pressed to double the Eisenhower administration's missile program.

ATTEMPTED REASSURANCE

But he added, it was troubled by the militant nature of some of the Democratic campaign utterances.

The visiting Americans attempted to reassure the Soviet minister. They emphasized that missiles were a more secure defense basis, since they did not embody most of the human-error fallibilities of a constantly alerted, manned-plane program. This, they suggested, ought to give the Soviets some comfort.

Kuznetsov, however, reiterated that if there were a major U.S. missile buildup, it would probably require his country to respond.

Thus the stage was set for a continuation of the highly competitive U.S.-U.S.S.R. missile race.

MISSILE RACE BEGAN

Other military and civilian leaders whose views have made possible the piecing together of this unique missile-gap story from its beginnings include:

Allen Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, who stated, "By '57, we began to get evidence of a rather major Soviet breakthrough. Intelligence, correctly, I think, indicated they were ahead; this was based in part on successful firings out of the total shots fired. Then intelligence, and I think properly, sounded the alarm. There was at least a threatening missile gap in 1957."

WAS LAG, NOT GAP

Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, Ret., former Army missile chief declared, "Our missile need involved a lag, not a gap, since the former represents a tardy effort and can be closed. I didn't know what Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was talking about when he referred to a 'gap.' I think the lag still is serious in the anti-ICBM field. Mr. Kennedy understood the problem, however, and began to move on it."

A State Department official, incumbent, who declined to be identified, gave this view of the situation: "The Iron Curtain is not as iron as it was; intelligence is better than it used to be. We went astray on the gap, lacking hard facts. We made an estimate on what would be a rational decision and they didn't make this decision. It still is hard to figure why they didn't produce and deploy their first-generation missile."

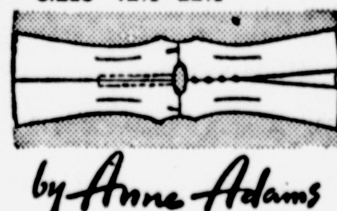

Next: The missile race.

NINE NEGROES FROM CHESTER ARE ARRESTED

HARRISBURG (AP) — Nine Chester Negroes were arrested on trespassing charges Monday night, climaxing a seven-hour sit-in demonstration in the governor's reception room of the state capitol.

One of the demonstrators, Barry Walley, 20, declined to leave the room voluntarily so plainclothes state police officers carried him out in his chair.

The nine neatly-dressed Negroes, members of the Chester Committee for Freedom Now, were taken before Alderman Joseph Demma, who released them on their own recognizance to afford them time to obtain legal counsel. A hearing was set for Friday.

FIFTH PROTEST

It was the fifth time members of the Chester committee had come to protest what they called police brutality in quelling racial demonstrations last April.

The demonstrators identified themselves as Stanley E. Branche, 31, executive director of the committee; Miss Margo Doss, 23; Wilburg Johnson, 22; Miss Nilufar Ahmed, 19; William Goldsborough, 39; Frederick Chambers, 34; William Abrams, 42; Miss Anna Strand, 18, and Walley.

Just last Friday four of the Negroes, including Branche, staged a sit-in in the governor's reception room, but there were no arrests.

ONE CARRIED OUT

Branche was demanding a statement from Gov. Scranton that would "acknowledge police brutality (in the Chester racial demonstrations) and promise punishment of those responsible."

The governor was at his home near Scranton, nursing a cold. Branche and seven demonstrators left peacefully when told they were under arrest.

When Walley was asked if he would leave he remained seated and said he was going to practice "passive resistance."

Two state policemen in civilian attire, lifted Walley's chair and carried him to the door. The chair bumped against the doorway and Walley left the chair, singing

Angry Hunter Kills Attacking Lioness

WINDHOEK, South West Africa (AP) — A young South West African railwayman was so enraged when a lioness bit off his arm during a hunt near here that he ignored his injury to shoot it dead. "There wasn't time to get frightened," he said later.

Twenty-five-year-old Jan Louis de Beer, a railway electrician, went hunting with some friends. They tracked down a pride of lions which had been marauding in the area. De Beer wounded a lioness in the leg. The party was following it when it suddenly charged. None of the men could shoot for fear of hitting one another.

The lioness knocked over De

Beer and bit off his arm near the elbow. The other men fired at the lioness while it was on top of him. One of the bullets hit De Beer higher up in his wounded arm.

The infuriated lioness ran off and stopped below a tree in which two men had taken refuge. Then De Beer stood up and shot it.

FISH FINANCE LEVEE
SMITHLAND, Ky. (AP) — Livingston County residents used one benefit of rivers when river flooding threatened Smithland. They held a fish fry to help pay for a levee around the town. The levee held back the waters this year but another fish fry was scheduled to help pay for more work on the barrier.

Long, Bitter Session Likely In Harrisburg

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
HARRISBURG (AP)—Democratic reaction to Gov. Scranton's proposed record budget for fiscal 1965-66 pointed today to a long, bitter struggle in the legislature.

"The budget proves what we have been saying all along, that the people of Pennsylvania have been overtaxed," House and Senate Democrats said Tuesday as the proposed $1.261 billion spending program was unveiled.

Even the circumstances surrounding presentation of the budget were unusual, signaling more hostility between the Democratic-controlled House and the Republican administration.

HOUSE NOT THERE

For one thing the governor departed from normal practice and sent the document over with a message instead of making the usual personal appearance before the legislature.

Then the House, in apparent retaliation, refused to stay in session Tuesday to receive the budget, adjourning instead Monday until Feb. 1.

Only the Republican-controlled Senate was on hand to accept the budget and even there, the usual enthusiasm which normally accompanies the presentation of a governor's spending proposal was missing.

After receiving the budget, the Senate also adjourned until next Monday.

SENATE QUITS TOO
"This budget will require careful, thoughtful and penetrating study and you may be sure we will approach this operation with an X-ray and scalpel," declared House Majority Leader Joshua Ellberg, D-Philadelphia.

Republicans, however, hailed the proposal as "far-reaching, important and necessary," especially since it called for no new taxes.

Scranton proposed $88.9 million in new spending, primarily for education "providing for better schools, better colleges and better universities." The increase would bring the total to $1,261,229,302.

But Democrats concentrated their assault on the projected $61 million surplus with which the state expects to end the current fiscal year, June 30.

This, they maintained, is the best proof of all that the Scranton administration overtaxed the people two years ago when it raised the sales tax from four to five per cent, the cigarette tax two cents a pack and the liquor tax from 10 to 15 per cent.

WON'T SWING BLINDLY

Then the legislature was controlled by Republicans, but now Democrats have the House and already are considering the possibility of lowering the sales tax again.

"We will not swing a meat ax blindly as was so often done when the situation was reversed," said Ellberg. "It is our intention to examine and question each item in the spending plan and to seek expert advice wherever we can find it."

Democrats also contended the $61 million surplus was underestimated and Scranton could have afforded to do even more for education.

GOP REACTION

"At first glance, I would say he hasn't gone nearly far enough," said Rep. K. Leroy Irvis, Democratic caucus chairman. "For one thing I would like to have seen funds set aside for establishment of state universities in Eastern and Western Pennsylvania."

Sen. John Devlin, Democratic floor leader in the Senate, reflected similar sentiments, claiming education "remains an unwanted, unprotected and abused facet of the governor's program."

Republican reaction was typified in these remarks by House Minority Leader Kenneth B. Lee R-Sullivan:

"This budget is keyed to areas where the greatest need is, but even more important, it is balanced. I cannot foresee how they possibly could do much adjusting without throwing the program completely out of balance. The place where we need more money is education and that is where most of the increase is."

Old Battle Flag Sought By Texas

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—State Rep. W. H. Miller of Houston wants Texas to recover the battle flag captured by Mexican troops as the Alamo fell in 1836 during the war which won Texas independence.

His resolution introduced Tuesday would authorize a seven-man committee to negotiate with Mexico for the banner's return.

The azure flag, bearing the slogan "God and Liberty," is displayed in the Mexican National Archives Museum at Chapultepec Castle.

Extremely Cold Weather Adds To Misery Of Many Midwest Homeless Groups

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Extreme cold stung the Midwest today, adding more burdens to the thousands of families in northern Illinois driven from their homes by power failures.

The cold also swept into the Northeast, accompanied by strong winds.

Texas dust was blown by strong winds as far away as Pennsylvania in what the U.S. Weather Bureau called "an extremely unusual phenomenon."

The dust billowed over Tennessee, Ohio and Pennsylvania, apparently the remnants of a huge dust storm in Texas and Oklahoma Monday.

MORE SNOW FALLS

A heavy snow struck northern Illinois Tuesday, measuring eight inches in some areas, and hampered repair work on power lines felled by ice which had formed Saturday.

The temperature dipped near zero in the Chicago area. Winds measured at 70 miles an hour moved across western New York, toppling trees, disrupting electrical service and causing minor damage.

Frigid air crossed the Canadian border into the north central states, sending temperatures well below zero.

In northern Illinois, 3,600 power-line repair workers—including some from Denver, Minneapolis, St. Louis, northern Ohio and Philadelphia — were hampered by Tuesday's heavy snow.

Many families without lights, heat and water rented hotel rooms and others stayed with friends. The American Red Cross, Salvation Army and Civil Defense set up public shelter and mobile units.

The Illinois Department of Health issued a power generator and 200 cots with blankets and sheets for an emergency community housing center.

SEVERE DAMAGE

Commonwealth Edison Co. officials have placed the damage to power equipment at $2 million.

Hundreds of schools remained closed because of no heat. More than 2,000 telephones were out of service. Streets were blocked off because of fallen trees, limbs and power lines.

Supersonic flights over the Chicago area were canceled

Thousands

al household and the diplomatic corps.

Behind them a huge crowd edged forward — people from all over Britain, the Commonwealth and foreign lands.

When the great oaken doors swung open to the public, the line stretched for three-quarters of a mile and police said more than 5,000 were waiting.

SOME WOMEN WEEP

Although it was a school day, many children of school age were in the crowd.

The public shuffled through the hall in two lines on either side of the catafalque.

Many halted before the bier, turned, bowed, turned again and moved on.

A few women wept silently. Despite the cold east wind off the Thames, some mourners bedded down all night in sleeping bags on the sidewalk outside the Houses of Parliament, of which Westminster Hall is part.

Tennessee got enough Texas dust to turn the sky orange in some areas.

BIG BEN TOLLS

Through the night Big Ben tolled the hours and the quarters. On Saturday, it will be silent from the moment the funeral starts.

William Turner, 50, a former regimental sergeant major in the Middlesex Regiment, stood through the night in the line.

"I came because I had to," he said. "If it hadn't been for Sir Winston during the war I am sure this country would never have pulled through."

Churchill's body was brought to the hall Tuesday night from his home at 28 Hyde Park Gate, where he died with his family around him 10 days after a stroke.

Lady Churchill, heavily veiled but calm in her grief, rode with her son, Randolph and other members of the family in eight limousines behind the hearse.

They stood by a canopy at the entrance of the hall as eight Guardsmen lifted the coffin to their shoulders and took it to the catafalque.

Inside the hall the family spent 15 minutes in prayer with the archbishop of Canterbury, Dr. Michael Ramsey. Then the lonely vigil of the guards began. Five sovereigns have announced that they will attend Churchill's funeral service in St. Paul's, where the British traditionally take leave of their heroes.

QUEEN TO ATTEND

They are Queen Elizabeth II, who will attend with Prince Philip and other members of the British royal family, King Baudouin of Belgium, King Olav of Norway, King Frederik of Denmark and King Constantine of Greece.

Queen Juliana of the Netherlands will be represented by her husband, Prince Bernhard.

President Charles de Gaulle planned to fly from Paris Friday night for the funeral. Authoritative sources in Moscow said a ranking member of the Soviet government would attend.

President Johnson, recovering from a heavy cold and sore throat, waited for another medical checkup before deciding whether to attend.

IKE TO ATTEND

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower also will attend and after the funeral service will broadcast a television commentary from the cathedral for the British Broadcasting Corp. The BBC said he would speak "as a close friend and wartime colleague of Sir Winston."

St. Paul's has been a setting for funerals of British heroes since Admiral Lord Nelson was buried there after his long journey home from death and victory over the French and Spanish at Trafalgar.

Churchill will be buried with his forebears at Bladon, in a tiny Oxfordshire county churchyard within sight of Blenheim, the great house in which he was born.

The village will be sealed off during the interment, which Lady Churchill asked should be private. Only family mourners will attend.

NAT KING COLE TO SING AGAIN

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Singer Nat King Cole has lost a lung to cancer, but his doctor says that doesn't mean his career has ended.

Such was the medical opinion offered Tuesday by the physician, who said Cole's condition is "very, very good," and added: "There is no reason why he won't be able to sing again."

The doctor requested anonymity, and declined to go beyond his brief statement in speculation upon the entertainer's chances for a full recovery.

Cole is in St. John's Hospital here, where attendants likewise refrained from any predictions as to how long he will be confined.

They did say that his mental attitude is quick and clear, and that he showed other signs of favorable reaction to the surgery.

Cole, 45, was admitted to the hospital Dec. 9, after cutting short a Las Vegas, Nev., engagement because of a respiratory complaint. Thereafter he received a series of cobalt treatments, and on Monday his left lung was removed.

Not until after the operation did a spokesman concede that the tumor on Cole's lung was cancerous.

General Khanh

ment campaign.

TELLS DEPUTY Y

Khanh called in Deputy U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson to tell him of the military takeover.

In Washington, State Department officials concerned with the situation in Viet Nam hurried to their offices in the middle of the night to assess the reports from Saigon.

Khanh and Taylor became bitter antagonists following the partial coup last Dec. 20, when Khanh and a group of young generals dissolved the High National Council — the provisional legislature.

PRESSES DEMANDS

Taylor pressed U.S. demands for a reversal of the military action and assurance that the military would quit dabbling in politics. The feud appeared to ease when the generals announced they had returned power to the civilian leaders and released politicians arrested in the purge. But several of the young generals behind Khanh continued to favor establishment of a military dictatorship, and it was no secret that ill feeling remained between Khanh and Taylor.

Khanh's seizure of power was no surprise. In conferences over the weekend, he and his generals reportedly decided that Huong must go and the only question was one of timing.

Khanh issued a communique saying he was taking charge "to resolve the political situation at the present time." He charged that the civilian government of Huong and chief of state Phan Khac Suu "is not able to cope with the supremely important present emergency situation."

John McVey, an assistant football coach at Michigan State for three seasons, is the new head coach at the University of Dayton.

PA. EDUCATION BILLS ARE IN SPOTLIGHT

HARRISBURG (AP)—Education legislation dominates the early activities of the state Senate with three more significant measures introduced in the chamber Tuesday.

The major bill offered as the Senate met in solo session was an administration proposal to make freshmen eligible to participate in the state's college loan program.

The measure (SB94) was introduced by Sen. Daniel A. Bailey, R-Centre, with Sens. Wil-mot E. Fleming Jr., R-Montgomery, and Thomas Kalman, D-Fayette, joining as sponsors.

LARGE APPROPRIATION

The administration proposal also recommended that the maximum amount of a loan be increased from $5,000 to $7,500.

It also proposed that a $1.225 million appropriation be made to the Pennsylvania Higher Education Assistance Agency to administer the fund.

This compares with the $425,000 appropriated for the fund this fiscal year.

Fleming, with Kalman's assistance, also introduced a measure, (SB72) which would allow the state to credit a student for employment with the state following graduation.

The bill authorizes the assistance agency to repay 10 per cent of a student's loan for each year, up to five years, of state employment.

PROPOSES CHANGES

The repayment would apply to the unpaid portion of the loan.

Sen. Charles R. Weiner, D-Philadelphia, proposed some significant changes in the state community college law.

He introduced legislation which would require the state to contribute one-third toward the cost of building a community college. Currently the state is required to pay only one-third of the college's "operating costs," not to exceed $1,000 per student.

Weiner's proposal also eliminates a restriction that 30 per cent of the state's contribution be used for a liberal arts program and the remaining 70 per cent for vocational and technical education.

The money may be split as seen fit by the college heads under the proposed legislation (SB 88).

WOULD FIX LIABILITY OF PARENTS

HARRISBURG (AP)—Sen. Albert R. Pechan, R-Armstrong, is making another attempt to hold parents liable for willful personal injury or property damage caused by their children under 18.

A bill (SB84) he introduced Tuesday would make the amount of liability range between $300 and $1,000.

Pechan repeatedly, but unsuccessfully, has attempted to guide similar legislation through the General Assembly in recent years.

Other significant legislation introduced in the Senate would:

—Require a hearing to be held within 90 days after an applicant has filed a petition for workmen's compensation insurance (SB81).

—Include handicapped or disabled state employees in the state's civil service system (SB 92).

—Change to 50-50 the formula used to determine the rebate to local governments from liquid fuels tax (SB89). Presently the formula is 60 per cent mileage and 40 per cent population.

—Extend from four to six years the amount of time a second class city may have to re-classify itself after a change in population (SB71).

GUARD UNITS WIN HONORS

HARRISBURG (AP) — The 28th Infantry Division, Pennsylvania Army National Guard, says 16 of its units won superior ratings in annual inspections conducted by officers of the Second Army.

Ratings of excellent went to 53 units, and satisfactory ratings went to 19 others, the division announced Tuesday. In 1963, 11 units of the 28th were rated superior.

Headquarters and Headquarters Company, Harrisburg, received a superior rating for the ninth straight year.

A superior went to each of the five batteries of the 1st Battalion, 109th Artillery, of Wilkes-Barre and Nanticoke.

Superior ratings also went to the four batteries of the 1st Battalion, 107th Artillery, Pittsburgh.
